

★ BLACKFRIARS

BLACKFRIARS STUDIUM STUDENT HANDBOOK

INFORMATION, REGULATIONS AND GUIDELINES

2020-21

BLACKFRIARS HALL
OXFORD

WELCOME TO BLACKFRIARS STUDIUM!

We hope that you will enjoy your time and studies here. This handbook includes essential information, regulations governing your conduct, and helpful guidelines for you.

THE HALL, THE STUDIUM, AND THE PRIORY

Blackfriars is home to three closely-related institutions: the Hall (a Permanent Private Hall of the University of Oxford); the Studium (the Catholic Studies Centre for the training of priests and members of religious congregations); and the Priory, where members of the Dominican community of friars live, work and study.

Blackfriars Hall also has two research institutes: the Aquinas Institute, and the Las Casas Institute for Social Justice. In addition, the Hall collaborates in academic research with the Anscombe Bioethics Centre.

There is more information about the Hall, the Studium, the Priory, and the Institutes on our website.

<http://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/>

GENERAL REGULATIONS AND GUIDELINES

Everyone who accepts a place at Blackfriars Studium is deemed to have bound himself or herself to observe the regulations.

The regulations of the Studium are kept under review by the Regent and the Moderators, and they are subject to amendment by them from time to time.

All students of the Studium are expected to apply themselves to their academic work to the satisfaction of their tutors and supervisors, and to behave in a reasonable and responsible manner, with consideration for other members of the Hall and Studium, their staff, and the general public.

These regulations and associated procedures are mainly a matter of common sense and good manners, but some are required by law. They will be enforced, in the first instance, by Hall and Studium Officers according to their particular area of responsibility: eg, the Regent and the Vice-Regent (academic obligations), the Senior Dean (discipline), and the Librarian.

RESIDENCY AND ATTENDANCE– MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

The academic year at Oxford University and Blackfriars Studium runs from October to June, divided into three eight-week terms: Michaelmas (October-December), Hilary (January-March), and Trinity (April-June). Academic weeks start on Sundays.

Non-Dominican students of the Studium do not have to be resident in Oxford during term time, but it is expected that, except where prior arrangement has been made with the Moderators, they will be available to attend lectures, classes and tutorials, and to see officers of the Studium, from Monday to Friday of weeks 1-8 in term time between 9am and 6pm, and to meet tutors and officers of the Studium, and to prepare or take oral examinations, on the Thursday and Friday of 0th week and the Monday to Thursday of 9th week. New students are expected to participate in the induction programme during the whole of 0th week in Michaelmas term.

Term dates used by the Studium as well as the Hall can be found here:

www.ox.ac.uk/about/facts-and-figures/dates-of-term.

STUDENT VISAS

Students who are not UK nationals and who enter the UK to attend the Studium must obtain entry clearance before travelling. Information about visa requirements is available on the websites listed below.

<http://www.ukcisa.org.uk/student/immigration.php>

<http://www.ukba.homeoffice.gov.uk/visas-immigration/studying>

Blackfriars Studium cannot permit any student to begin studies unless it is legal for that student to study in the UK.

NOTE: Blackfriars Studium does not have a Tier 4 sponsor licence and cannot issue a Confirmation of Acceptance for Studies (CAS), which must be obtained in order to apply for immigration permission as a Tier 4 (General) Student.

ACCESS AT BLACKFRIARS

During Full Term, the front gates normally open at 7.00am (Monday-Friday) or 8.00am (Saturday & Sunday). Entry fobs will allow access to the building from these times until the Joint Common Room (JCR) closes at 10.30pm. Non-resident students must leave the building by 10.30pm, when the front gates are locked. Volunteers act as doorkeepers most weekdays from 9am to 5pm; the doorkeepers are not porters, and they should not be expected to do more than attend to callers at the front door and take telephone calls to the general enquiry number.

Students must not to lend their fob to anyone else, and should take care that they are not followed into the building by someone who is not part of the Hall, Priory or Studium community.

Outside Full Term, the library, JCR, and computer room normally remain open during most of each vacation from 9am to 10pm (10.30pm in the case of the JCR), but Blackfriars closes completely between Christmas and New Year and for a few days immediately around Easter. The library will normally close for one or two days after the end of each term for stock-checks. The Academic Registrar will notify students of closures.

FIRE SAFETY

All students must learn the Fire Drill and familiarize themselves with the escape routes. Copies of the Fire Drill and plans of the escape routes on the main site are posted in the JCR.

The fire safety policy can be found here:

http://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/general/fire_safety/.

REGULATIONS

- It is an offence to misuse a fire extinguisher, a smoke detector, fire alarm, or any fire equipment, to obstruct a fire escape, tamper with Break Glass boxes, or to behave recklessly with respect to fire.
- It is an offence to remove fire extinguishers from their brackets except in case of fire.
- It is an offence to prop open fire doors or to obstruct corridors and fire exits.
- It is an offence to store flammable or explosive substances in any building used by the Hall or Studium.
- Any malfunctioning alarms and emergency lights or damage to fire equipment in the main building must be reported to the Bursary.
- The smoking of tobacco, including e-cigarettes, and the use of candles, tea-lights, incense, joss sticks or naked flames in any room at Blackfriars are strictly prohibited.
- Behaviour that in any way compromises the fire safety of the buildings will be reported to the Senior Dean.

PHOTOCOPYING

It is the responsibility of all individual members of the Studium to ensure that photocopying is carried out within the terms of the Copyright Designs and Patent Act 1988. If, without the authority of the copyright owner, a person copies outside the very limited "fair dealing" exceptions of the Act (which allows copying for, amongst other things, research or private study by individuals), that person may not only be infringing copyright but may also be committing a criminal offence.

It is the responsibility of the individual to ensure that his or her photocopying is lawfully carried out. In addition, it is the duty of the licensed institution (in this case the Studium) to ensure that all staff and students are kept properly informed. This note constitutes information to students of the Studium for this purpose. Additional notices giving clarification to staff and students of their obligations under the Act appear beside each photocopier. Where infringement is clearly observed to be occurring, the licensed institution may bring disciplinary charges against the individual.

Please note the following limits on copying.

- Up to 5% or one complete chapter (whichever is the greater) from a book;
- Up to 5% or one whole article (whichever is the greater) from a single issue of a journal;
- Up to 5% or one paper (whichever is the greater) from a set of conference proceedings;
- Up to 5% of an anthology of short stories or poems or one short story or one poem of not more than 10 pages (whichever is the greater).

A more comprehensive copy of these guidelines can be found next to the photocopier in the computer room.

COMPUTER USE

All students are required to adhere to the Acceptable Use of Computers Policy.

Computers are available for use in the computer room, and there is also WiFi connection available throughout the Blackfriars buildings.

Blackfriars has an IT support officer, who is generally available for consultations in the computer room on Monday afternoons and Thursday mornings. He can be contacted by telephone or email at other times.

E dorin.savu@bfriars.ox.ac.uk

T 01865 717088

COMMUNICATION

EMAIL

It is the duty of students of the Studium regularly to check their incoming mail. Communications sent by email will be deemed to have been received by full-time students after 24 hours, and by part-time students after 48 hours.

PIGEONHOLES

Studium students are allocated a pigeonhole in the computer room where written messages and small packages can be left.

THE LIBRARY

The Librarian will give more detailed advice on using the library, but please note the following:

Access to and use of the Blackfriars library is restricted to those authorized by the Prefect of the Library.

In Trinity term, Hall students preparing for final exams have priority in using the computers in the library gallery.

Blackfriars enters its library holdings on SOLO, the joint on-line catalogue of Oxford libraries. There is a dedicated SOLO terminal in the entry corridor to the library, but students can also access SOLO via the Oxlip platform on all computers by logging on to the Blackfriars network. All books held by Blackfriars are listed on SOLO. Paper copies of journals available online through the Oxford University OxLIP+ platform have been removed from the library. These journals are available online.

The rules of the library can be found here:

http://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/general/library/library_rules/.

AVOIDING PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work or ideas as one's own, with or without consent, by incorporating such work or ideas without full acknowledgement. All published and unpublished material, whether in manuscript, printed or electronic form, is covered under this definition. Plagiarism may be intentional or unintentional. Students concerned that work they are submitting could be deemed to be plagiarised should seek advice from their tutor(s).

The advice given by Oxford University on the webpage listed below is useful.

<http://www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/guidance/skills/plagiarism>

GENERAL CONDUCT

Courteous, sober and reasonable behaviour is expected from students at all times, both in and out of all the buildings used by the Hall, the Studium, and the Priory. Students are also responsible for the behaviour of their guests, and must remain with them at all times.

Students may not bring guests into the buildings used by the Hall and Studium – with the exception of the JCR – unless given prior permission by the Moderators.

During 2020 no visitors may be brought into any Blackfriars premises.

A student who encounters an intruder should try to direct him or her off the premises or, if the situation appears threatening, report the matter immediately to one of the Moderators or another senior member of the Hall or Studium. If necessary, the University security services (internal tel: 89999) or the police should be contacted.

Students are expected to be punctual at lectures, classes, tutorials, and appointments of any kind with a member of staff, and should give advance warning where possible of inability to attend through illness.

It is a serious offence to act in any way that might be construed as sexual harassment, racial harassment, religious or other harassment of another student or member of staff. The Hall and Studium policy on dealing with allegations of harassment is displayed on the website.

While students can expect to find tutors and staff at Blackfriars considerate of their needs and helpful at all reasonable times, tutors and other staff are not expected to respond to communications outside office hours, except where there are emergencies concerning non-academic matters such as a serious accident.

THE JCR

The JCR is the Joint Common Room comprising both the Junior and the Middle Common Rooms. The term JCR can refer both to the student body and to the room itself.

Graduate and visiting students of Oxford University are Full Members of the JCR.

Studium students are welcome to use the JCR for socializing and for making drinks and light refreshments, but they are not voting members of the JCR and do not have an automatic right to attend events organised by or for the JCR.

The JCR receives funds from the Moderators for refreshments and facilities provided for Hall and Studium members using the common room, as well as for events organized by the JCR Committee.

The JCR is run by its members in accordance with its own constitution. The following additional regulations are laid down by the Moderators.

- Noise must be kept to a minimum at all times, and music played only after 7.20pm.
- Bicycles are not to be brought into the JCR (or any other part of the Priory).
- The room is not to be left unoccupied with the windows open.
- Parties may be held in the JCR only with the permission of the Senior Dean.
- Guests (eg, visiting friends and family members, and students of other colleges of Oxford University) may normally be brought into the JCR during term time without prior permission from the Moderators. Guests must be accompanied by their host or hosts at all times. The Prior and the Moderators reserve the right to ban any individual from the premises used by the Hall and Studium.

During 2020 no visitors may be brought into any Blackfriars premises, and no parties may be held in the buildings.

GENERAL HEALTH AND WELFARE

Blackfriars expects all its students to be registered with a doctor and to be responsible for their own health. There is no college nurse.

STUDENTS' PROPERTY

Students who leave belongings in their rooms or elsewhere on Hall and Studium premises at any time do so at their own risk. It is the responsibility of students to insure their own belongings against damage, loss and theft. Valuables should not be left unattended.

No offensive weapon of any kind, and no ammunition for any such weapon, may be brought into the buildings used by the Hall and Studium.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND WELFARE PRINCIPLES

Blackfriars Hall and Studium respect the right to privacy of their staff and students. Both institutions adhere to the statutory principles of privacy and respect for confidentiality, most recently defined in the Human Rights Act 1998 and the Data Protection Act 1998. Accordingly, information given in confidence by a student to an adviser will not generally be disclosed to others. The term 'adviser' is used here to denote anyone whom a student consults for welfare advice in an official capacity, including the Harassment Officers, the Moderators, the Senior Tutor, the Academic Registrar, the Senior Dean, the JCR/MCR Chaplain, tutors, and other Hall and Studium officers. Medical practitioners, clergy and counsellors also have their own professional guidelines.

The Studium's duty of care for the welfare of all its members may make it necessary in certain circumstances for confidential information to be disclosed, but only to officers who need to know such information in order to exercise that care. Advisers will use their professional discretion to assess what information needs to be shared, and with whom.

At the outset of any consultation by a student, an adviser will normally explain these principles and, if relevant, attempt to establish the extent of the confidentiality necessary in the particular case.

Whenever possible, consent to disclose any necessary information to other officers will be sought from a student. The adviser will explain why others may need to know, or why it would be helpful for other advisers to be informed and for advisers to discuss the matter. Third parties will also be bound by the same principles. If consent is not given, the adviser will explain that, in certain circumstances, some disclosure and consequent action may be necessary because of the duty to protect the student or others from harm. Examples include circumstances where a student carries a serious infectious medical condition, is thought to be at risk of self-harm, has a tendency to violence, or may have committed a sexual assault.

In matters relating to the misuse of drugs and other banned substances, the JCR Chaplain is happy to talk in confidence to any member of the Studium. Disclosure will only be made in accordance with the exceptions outlined above. Confidentiality cannot be guaranteed if information concerning the misuse of drugs is disclosed to any other person.

Only in rare circumstances will families or nominated persons be contacted without the consent of a student.

All parties must respect privacy, including in emails and in dealings with the press.

Students have a responsibility to inform the Studium of changes in their circumstances likely to have a substantial effect on their ability to work or on their welfare.

This principle of confidentiality includes the area of financial hardship, where information given to the Bursary is normally shared only where necessary with the Moderators responsible for adjudicating claims.

DATA PROTECTION

In order to fulfil its educational, pastoral and administrative responsibilities, the Studium will collect and process personal data about its students. The Data Protection Act 1998 and 2018 requires that such information is processed fairly and lawfully, is held securely and is kept current.

The Studium will retain data concerning students after they have completed their studies, in order to provide references and transcripts, or to confirm academic attainments to employers, prospective employers, educational institutions or recognised voluntary organisations. The Studium will not normally disclose information to third parties without the specific consent of the data subject in each case, but may do so without seeking specific consent in the instances cited and in similar circumstances. Information will not be disclosed unless the request is made in writing. Studium records are normally archived, but the Studium is not liable for any loss of data. Students are advised to retain any correspondence, documents or certificates issued by the Studium safely and securely.

It is possible that sensitive personal data may appear on file. The Data Protection Act 1998 defines sensitive personal data as information about racial or ethnic origins; political opinions; religious or other beliefs; trades union membership; health; sexual activity; criminal allegations, proceedings or convictions. The Studium has no need or intention to collect data about political opinions, trades union membership or sexual orientation, but may record the religious allegiances of members either where these are relevant to entry requirements for specific qualifications or so as to foster respect for the needs of all students.

It may be necessary to process data about health, for example because of the need to ask for dispensation to miss an examination, or because of a need for special provisions to be made for certain health problems, or in cases of disability. Any student who is concerned about the retention of such material on file, or about the possibility that other types of sensitive data (as defined by the Act) may have been collected, should discuss these concerns with the Academic Registrar or the Director of Studium Studies.

Unless requested otherwise, the Studium will add relevant personal data to alumni records, so that former students may receive relevant publications and information about alumni activities, events and programmes.

Students have a right of access to most of the data held concerning them, though they do not have a right of access to examination scripts. An administrative fee may be charged for any access; advice can be sought from the Moderators.

INFRINGEMENT OF THE GENERAL RULES

MINOR INFRINGEMENTS

Blackfriars expects that all students will abide by the General Rules set out above or otherwise published by the Studium. If a student does infringe them, or is thought to have infringed them, he or she may be summoned by the Senior Dean to account for his or her action.

The Senior Dean, or any other member of staff whom the Moderators have appointed to act for the Senior Dean, has the authority to impose fines of up to £150, or the cost, if higher, of replacing a damaged library book or other property, and to withdraw access to the library and the computer room for varying lengths of time. If the Senior Dean considers that the infringement merits a higher penalty, he will refer the matter to the Senior Tutor.

Where the Senior Dean has imposed a fine of less than £75, students may appeal to the Senior Tutor, who may reduce, confirm, or increase the fine, and whose verdict is final. Where the Senior Dean has imposed a fine over £75, students may appeal to the Disciplinary Committee, but are advised that the Disciplinary Committee may impose additional fines or penalties where it judges an appeal to be trivial or frivolous.

The Senior Dean has the power, after consultation with the Senior Tutor, to suspend the right of access of a student from premises and facilities of the Studium with immediate effect for a fixed or indeterminate period where it appears to the Senior Dean that the student may be guilty of serious misconduct and such suspension appears to be warranted. Suspension is a precautionary and not a disciplinary sanction, and may continue during the investigation of any such allegation and any subsequent disciplinary proceedings.

The Senior Dean will report to the Disciplinary Panel cases of serious misconduct which he believes may require a penalty more serious than a fine of £150.

SERIOUS MISCONDUCT

Serious misconduct by a student, whether committed within the premises of the Hall or Studium, or elsewhere, renders the offender liable to appear before the Disciplinary Committee, the powers of which include imposing a fine of any magnitude or banning or expelling an offender. The Disciplinary Committee may attach such conditions as it sees fit to any penalty.

Serious Misconduct includes, but is not limited to, violent or threatening behaviour; any form of harassment; failure to comply with the provisions of the Code of Practice on Freedom of Speech; intentional or reckless damage to property; theft of property; contravention of the computer regulations; fraud or false accounting; the use of dishonest means in any examination or in fulfilling any academic obligation including (but without limitation) cheating in any examination; producing, procuring, possessing, using or supplying illegal drugs or other dangerous substances, or allowing Hall or Studium premises to be used for these purposes; interference with fire prevention or any other equipment; obstructing an officer, tutor, or other member of staff of the Hall or Studium in the proper discharge of his or her duty; engaging in conduct resulting in conviction for a criminal offence capable of attracting an immediate sentence of imprisonment (whether or not such a penalty is imposed); wilful contravention of the regulations; or engaging in any other conduct which is gravely detrimental to the interests of the Studium.

Any student who is facing criminal prosecution or who has been convicted of a criminal offence capable of attracting an immediate sentence of imprisonment (whether or not such a penalty was imposed) must inform the Senior Dean.

Proceedings before the Disciplinary Committee are governed by the regulations set out here:

http://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/studium/students/studium_discipline.

No student shall intentionally or recklessly engage in any act, omission, or course of conduct that is contrary to current Government, Public Health England, or local public health rules, any instructions issued by public officials, or any rules which Blackfriars has issued based on official health guidelines. Students should note that current Government, Public Health England and other local public health rules, and all instructions issued by public officials also apply outside Blackfriars premises.

ACADEMIC INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS FOR STUDIUM STUDENTS

THE STB AND BLACKFRIARS ORDINATION COURSE

Through its affiliation with the Pontifical University of St Thomas in Rome (Angelicum), which is run by the Dominican Order, Blackfriars is able to offer Catholic ordinands and male religious the STB (Bachelor's degree in Sacred Theology). Lay people and female religious can study at Blackfriars for the first part of the STB, but the course must be completed by at least one year's study at the Angelicum.

The Blackfriars ordination course begins with two years of philosophy, which is taught by a combination of tutorials, lectures and reading classes. The STB course of theology is normally taught over four years.

The purpose of the STB course is for the student to gain a coherent and comprehensive account of the Catholic faith, of the Catholic Church's canon law, and of her ministerial practice, to a standard appropriate for ordinands to the diaconate and presbyterate. It further aims in particular to introduce students to the overarching philosophical and theological vision of St Thomas Aquinas.

By the end of the course students should:

1. have good knowledge of a full range of theological and ancillary topics, including:
 - Scripture, and the principles for its interpretation in the Catholic Church;
 - Patristics, with general coverage of the major dogmatic controversies of the early Church;
 - modern developments in Theology;
 - Church History, including the causes contributing to the rise of Protestantism;
 - the fundamental Christian doctrines of God, One and Three; Christology; Grace; Salvation;
 - Ecclesiology;
 - Sacramental Theology and liturgical practice;
 - Canon Law;
 - Moral and Pastoral Theology;
2. have a good knowledge of the content, method and principal terms of the philosophical and theological vision of St Thomas Aquinas;
3. have an understanding of Catholic theology in relation to 'sacra doctrina', its place within the life of the Church, and the interrelations which exist between its different disciplines;
4. be able to apply their knowledge to pastoral roles, and the exercise of any ministerial office which may be given to them by the Church;
5. be able to explore a Scriptural passage for the sake of preaching or other forms of instruction, with an awareness of critical issues, and without superficiality;
6. be able to instruct others in the Christian faith, and be able to take part respectfully and engagingly in discussion on religious and ethical issues;
7. be able to offer counsel to those who come with moral and personal issues, with an awareness of the subtlety of such issues.

LECTURES AND CLASSES

Studium lectures are a key element in teaching each course and are therefore normally compulsory. Students can expect to have five or six hours of lectures and up to three hours of language classes each week. Lectures do not normally require prior preparation, but each lecture course has a comprehensive bibliography provided by the lector. It is expected that either during the course, or soon after its completion, students will have familiarized themselves with key texts from the bibliography. Students must arrive in good time for the start of lectures and classes, which begin promptly at five minutes past the hour.

ORAL EXAMINATIONS

All ordinands are examined by a short oral examination of no more than ten minutes on each lecture course for which they are registered in the Studium, but for which they are not receiving tutorials, or sitting a written exam. In most cases the lector will identify no more than three specific topics from within the course which may feature in the oral. Most oral examinations take place on the Tuesday or Wednesday of week 9. Please note that to score a top mark candidates may be expected to show some evidence of reading from the list accompanying the lecture course.

PERMISSION FOR ABSENCE FROM LECTURES AND CLASSES

Students who have compulsory lectures and classes must not absent themselves from a lecture or class without first obtaining permission from the Director of Studium Studies. They should then notify the lector concerned.

READING CLASSES

A reading class will require the student to prepare beforehand by reading one or more texts specified by the lector. In some cases, the lector may ask a student to prepare answers to specific questions based upon what he or she has read. This preparation may take around one hour. Reading classes are normally assessed by a short oral examination of no more than ten minutes (see above).

LANGUAGE CLASSES

Language classes are twice-weekly for beginners, and once-weekly for intermediate and advanced readers. Each class may require around one-hour's preparation time. Language classes are normally assessed at the end of each term by a one-hour written examination containing sentences or passages for translation.

TUTORIALS - SOME GENERAL INFORMATION

Of the different courses taken each term, two will normally be taught by a set of four tutorials (three in philosophy), supplemented by lectures. The Tutorial System centres around a weekly meeting with a tutor, for which a student is expected to spend a considerable amount of time preparing in the previous week by reading material suggested or set by the tutor or supervisor. However, it is recognized that a Studium student with lectures and language classes will not have the same amount of time to read for the tutorial as an Oxford University undergraduate. It is therefore estimated that Studium students should normally spend around 18 hours in reading for and writing a tutorial essay. The STB aims at a comprehensive overview of Catholic Theology and its ministerial implications rather than the specialist study undertaken for the Pontifical Licence (STLic). Students will normally be expected to write an essay for each tutorial to be read aloud at the start of the hour, followed by a discussion of what has been written, along with other aspects of the topic.

It is a student's responsibility to make contact with a tutor at the start of term in order to arrange a first meeting. This should normally be done by Tuesday of 0th week at the latest. The Academic Registrar should be informed if students experience difficulty in contacting tutors. Letters, messages and essays for Dominicans resident in the Priory may be left on the table in the front hall.

Students are not normally allowed or expected to schedule more than one tutorial in each week. If it proves difficult to schedule tutorials with more than one tutor so that they occur weekly, students should consult the Director of Studium Studies.

TUTORIAL ESSAYS

The tutor can advise on the appropriate length for an essay. This is normally between 2000 and 4000 words.

A tutor may also ask a student to submit an essay up to 24 hours ahead of the tutorial. Though students are expected to show evidence of their reading, they must always present their own argument in their own words. Any quotation or passage from another author must be clearly indicated by quotation marks and referenced in the footnotes at the bottom of the page.

TEACHING ARRANGEMENTS AND CHANGES TO COURSES

To ensure that the Studium engages the best available tutors, teaching may be organized up to a year in advance. This means that it is sometimes impossible to make last-minute changes. It is vital that, at the end-of-term meeting with the Director of Studium Studies, students discuss their progress and any changes desired. It is not normally possible to change tutorial topics or tutors at the beginning of the term in which they are due to take place.

WORK-RELATED PROBLEMS

A student who for any reason is unhappy with how a tutor is teaching him or her, or who has any complaint concerning a tutor's conduct, or any other work-related problem, should refer the matter to the Director of Studium Studies at the earliest opportunity

FAILURE TO WORK

Blackfriars assumes that all students will work with reasonable industry and success on the course for which they have been accepted. Failure to produce satisfactory work or to attend arranged tutorials without good reason may result in the student being disciplined on academic grounds.

SUSPENSION OF STUDIES

Students who have formally suspended their studies voluntarily with the permission of the Regent and Moderators will not ordinarily be permitted the use of Blackfriars facilities, including but not confined to the library, the JCR, and the computer room.

STUDIUM MARK SCHEME

Studium courses, including STB courses, are marked out of 100 according to the scheme specified below. 40 is a bare pass mark, without which the student cannot gain the credits for the course in question.

Since the STB is validated by a Roman University, tutors and examiners are encouraged to use the whole range of marks, even above 90%, as the whole range is used in Rome. However, since Blackfriars is located in Oxford, we should like also to recognize the distinctions made in the British higher education system. Details are available here:

<https://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/student-area/blackfriars-studium-student-information/mark-scheme/>.

Credits are awarded according to the study time involved, so that a 1-term lecture course assessed by a viva-voce exam gains 2 credits; a 1-term participatory class or seminar might gain more credits; a course of 8 lectures/classes and 4 tutorials gains 10 credits. The final written exam for the STB gains 40 credits to reflect academic improvement and the ability to synthesise one's studies.

The minimum number of credits required for the STB is 280, but most students gain more, especially if they study languages. Language study gains credits towards the STB and may raise a student's GPA score, but will not lower it.

TRANSCRIPTS

At the end of the STB course, Blackfriars submits a consolidated transcript to the Angelicum, which then awards a degree certificate. Studium students can also request a transcript of their studies from the Academic Registrar.

COLLECTIONS

Students should expect an interview at the end of each term (known as a collection) to discuss their academic progress with the Director of Studium Studies. The Regent may interview all students during Hilary Term. Failure to attend a collection without obtaining prior permission from the Director of Studium Studies or the Regent is a discourtesy and a disciplinary offence which may result in the imposition of a fine. It is a student's responsibility to check the Studium noticeboards and emails by which they will be notified of collections.

EXAMINATIONS AND PROVISION FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES OR ILLNESS

Blackfriars Studium is committed to making fair provision for students with disabilities or who are ill during their course. To ensure that this commitment is carried out effectively, a student with any disability or illness that may adversely affect his or her ability to submit work for assessment or sit an examination under normal conditions, should notify the Director of Studium Studies well in advance. Dyslexic students will need to have an appropriate recent assessment.

ACADEMIC DISCIPLINE

Matters of academic discipline are governed by the regulations set out here:

<https://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/policies/regulations-governing-discipline/>.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

STUDIUM INVOICES

Sums due to Blackfriars by members of the Studium for academic fees and other charges are recorded on invoices which are issued some weeks before the beginning of the academic year. Members will be notified by post of any outstanding bills at the end of their studies in Oxford. Overseas students must settle their account by the date stipulated by the Bursary.

All bills must be paid by the Friday of 1st Week of Michaelmas Term. If for any reason a student is unable to pay by the due date, he or she must consult the Bursary immediately. Any person who fails to pay bills by the Friday of 1st Week will be charged at the prevailing rate in Blackfriars Hall, unless he or she has given advance notice to the Bursary and obtained agreement to late payment.

Payment of bills does not actually take place until funds authorized by a cleared cheque or payment order are received in the Studium's bank account. Particularly when an overseas bank is involved, money can take several days or even weeks to arrive.

Where special circumstances warrant, the Bursary may agree to a bill payment schedule other than the standard termly one. Application for this must be made in advance of the due date of the invoice.

Unless all invoices have been paid from previous years a student may not resume studies.

CERTIFICATE FEES

Students who complete the STB will be issued with a certificate by the Angelicum. A charge may be made for additional copies.

ACCOMMODATION

Any student living in Blackfriars accommodation will be required to sign a licence agreement with Blackfriars in which costs and responsibilities are detailed. The terms of the licence agreement are considered to be part of these regulations, and breaches of the licence can lead to disciplinary action as described in this handbook.

OTHER CHARGES

Other miscellaneous items, such as JCR levies, may also be billed.

CODES OF PRACTICE AND STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY

In order to foster and maintain good conduct, Blackfriars has set in place a number of policies and codes of practice. These specify what in certain areas is expected of students and of the Hall and Studium.

http://www.bfriars.ox.ac.uk/hall/policies_and_guidelines/